Whoo News

Do you remember when.....

Do you remember the hard decision when you were sick, was "do I stay home or go to work"? Today, you can be perfectly fine but are asked "to shelter in place" which leaves people somewhat uncomfortable in their skin. Many of us were not prepared for what has come, the effect on all lives, world wide. So, I decided I can fear this or embrace the opportunity to talk to people by phone, email, send cards or just enjoy really seeing what, and who, is around us.

This too shall pass, so don't waste this precious time.

Keep having fun and stay safe,

Devery, Max, Twitchell and Captain Jack Sparrow

This month's newsletter is going to be somewhat short and sweet. Like, well, all of us, we have minimized the amount of contact that we need to have. The Owl Harbor Team has been sheltering in place in their homes, except Adam and Javier. Adam is staying on top of the restrooms by sanitizing them every Monday and Thursday. We appreciate your help by cleaning your area in these facilities. Javier is keeping the grounds emptied of trash and recycle and assisting me with those tasks I'm just not able to do.

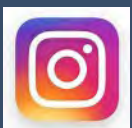

Just a reminder, that if this is your home, or you have come to check on your boat and get a change of scenery, we have social distancing in effect here as well. It's not about how you feel, it's about the people you come into contact with that have been in contact with other people that you don't know about. Be smart and be safe!

Change in Venue

There have been many cancellations in many events, but I wanted to be sure during this time, you use it wisely - you know, get your things in order and your Swap Meet items ready to sell. We will be having the swap meet, it just won't be May 2nd, at least so far. We will surely notify you when the coast is clear and it's safe to go outside and play. So, purge away those unwanted goods and get ready for a spectacular swap meet - soon.

The Pacific Sail and Boat Show, scheduled for April 16-19 was canceled, but they are looking at having webinars for those wanting great boating information from the pro's. Stay tuned or view their website:

Things to make you smile.....

I love pictures, as I'm sure you know, so I thought I would go through the archives and share some of my happy memories. Enjoy!
